

Mahmood Sariolghalam

Mahmood Sariolghalam
National University of Iran

"Iran and the Nuclear Crisis: Domestic Dynamics and Foreign Policy Challenges"

Monday, April 10, 2006
3:30 p.m.
Mershon Center
Room 120

This lecture is open to the public. Kindly RSVP to Ann Powers no later than Thursday, April 6, 2006.

Mahmood Sariolghalam was born in Tehran, Iran, in 1959. He received his B.A. degree in Political Science/Management from California State University, Northridge in 1980, and his M.A. and Ph.D. degrees in International Relations from the University of Southern California in 1982 and 1987.

Sariolghalam has been an associate professor of International Relations at National University of Iran in Tehran since 1987. He was a visiting scholar of International Relations at The Ohio State University in 1997. Sariolghalam is the editor of Discourse (in English) and Middle East Quarterly (in Farsi). He does teaching and research on the Third World political economy, international relations theory/methodology and international politics of the Middle East.

Sariolghalam is the author of several books including The International Dimensions of the Western Saharan Conflict, Development, The Third World and the International System, The Evolution of Methods and Research in International Relations, and Rationality and Development. He is also the author of more than 85 articles published or presented in international journals and conferences. He has published several articles in The Washington Quarterly.

Sariolghalam is a member of the C-100 Group at the World Economic Forum.